Heitzmann backs reassessment at property owner's hearing

By RICH ADAMS
Former Hancock County Tax Assessor George Heitzmann told Hancock County Circuit Court Judge Rubel Griffin in a hearing this week that a reassessment of all county land is necessary to insure fair and equal taxes.

Heitzmann testified Monday in a hearing involving property owner Glenn Bannister who is arguing against an earlier decision of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors against lowering the assessment on his Carroll Avenue beach home.

Bay St. Louis attorney William Frisbie represented Bannister at the hearing and questioned Heitzmann as to whether a reassessment would result in an equalization of taxes in the county.

"Reassessment is the cure, but there are no funds available," testified Heitzmann.

"There are some properties in the county which have never been reassessed, and that is the problem," said Heitzmann.

Current Tax Assessor Eddie Murtagh testified for over an hour in Monday's hearing, insisting the assessment of the Bannister residence is "fair and equal" in his opinion.

The hearing was held Monday because Judge Griffin ruled Frisbie earlier filed a petition against the supervisors under the wrong section of the law, and the judge agreed to hear the case again.

Griffin gave Frisbie 10 days in which to file a brief on his petition and gave Walter James Phillips, special attorney for the supervisors, five days in which to file his brief.

Frisbie said Bannister was paying higher taxes because the market value of construction materials used to build his home is higher than the value of those used to build many of the older homes in the surrounding area.

"Material costs keep going up and up, and a reappraisal of property will have to reflect the constantly changing market value," said Heitzmann.

UNICEF CHAIRMEN - Lisa Thomas and Chuck Benigno have been chosen as United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF) chairmen for Hancock County's annual collection Halloween night. Ms. Thomas is a senior and Benigno a Junior at Bay Senior High. Area youth will meet at the Bay St. Louis First Baptist Church Tuesday, Oct. 31, at 8 p.m. for area assignments. Last year's collection for Hancock County was over $264. Among organizations and church youth participating will be the Episcopal Young Churchmen, Methodist Fellowship Youth, First Baptist Young people, OLG Catholic Youth Organization, Bay-Waveland Phi Kappa National Fraternity, Inc., Sigma Gamma Chapter and Youth of Hancock County. Refreshments will be served after collections from 7:30 to 8 p.m. (Staff photo - Ellis Cuevas)

After the hearing, Murtagh said a Hinds County Chancery Court, case is currently pending in Jackson which calls for reassessment at 100 percent value of property.

There is presently an exemption on property assessment for senior citizens and disabled veterans that allows a $5,000 homestead exemption.

Murtagh says he is against the 100 percent assessment unless the homestead exemption is also increased.

"Say a senior citizen owns a home which was assessed at $8,000 when new, many years ago. That person is paying some $28.30 with the exemption because that home has not been reassessed in years," he explained.

"If the 100 percent bill goes into effect REASSESSMENT-Page 8A

'Waterfront' homes now border stagnant ditch

By LESLIE WILLIAMS
Leo Cruthirds of Hwy. 603 in Hancock County says he is sad and doesn't exactly know what to do about preventing a waterway behind his house from becoming a 'big ditch.'

"I love the place," emphasizes Cruthirds. "The lady next door almost cries everytime she sees me in the backyard, because of that ditch developing in our backyards."

"It's nothing but stagnant water, a breeding place for mosquitos, snakes and disease," exclaims Cruthirds.

"I'm afraid to meet the lady next door, because I'm afraid she'll start crying," reiterates the distraught homeowner.

"You see," he explains, "the lady next-door's husband, before he died, built some steps that led down to the water behind their house and every day she used to go crabbing."

"She would always catch a few crabs—now she catches nothing."

The reason she doesn't catch anything is because culverts have been placed across Avenue B preventing water from flowing behind our houses, Cruthirds lamented.

The problem is, stated Cruthirds, a

Slidell man's fate remains mystery

By RICH ADAMS
George W. Nelson of Slidell, an apparent drowning victim whose empty boat was found in front of Our Lady of the Gulf Church in Bay St. Louis, October 4, remains a mystery to local law enforcement officials.

A thorough search by local officials, assisted by the Coast Guard and Civil Defense, failed to turn up a body or firm clue as to whether the man did drown.

"All of the various department have been notified that he (Nelson) remains among the missing, but we have yet to find anything concrete," said Bay St. Louis Police Chief Douglas Williams.

"Any rumors concerning foul play are merely hearsay," he added.

Slidell Police Investigator Gene Swann reported his department has nothing on the Nelson drowning.

"If local officials in Bay St. Louis give us information to back up suspicions of foul play, we would start an investigation. Right now, we have nothing to warrant an investigation," Swann said.

Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan Ladner's Chief Deputy Ronnie Peterson said the missing Slidell man is "still a mystery," and refused to comment on any rumors of foul play.

The officials also reported they can find no basis for rumors that Nelson is still alive.

Kiln District gets FmHA extension

By ELLIS CUEVAS
The Kiln Water and Fire District now has 192 families signed up and is still working for more, according to Cleveland Wyatt, Jr., president.

The local group has received a short deadline extension from Farmers Home Loan Administration and is making efforts to obtain as many signatures as possible before Nov. 3.

On that date, Wyatt, attorney Michael Haas and other members of the Board and Engineers for the district will journey to Jackson to show the FmHA the signatures the District already has and to "Get some clarification on some of the restrictions."

Haas also stated, "The more signatures the District has when we go to Jackson the stronger our position will be."

Numerous volunteers have been working on solicitation of customers for the Kiln Water and Fire District in order to get enough customers to qualify. A recent loan to the Kiln Fire Department for a new truck will depend upon whether or not the District's water system goes in, according to Haas.

Anyone living in the district and wanting to sign up can do so by contacting Wyatt, Vernon Haas, the Farm Bureau office in Kiln or the office of

Attorney sentenced

Tardy lawyer tries Court's patience

By RICH ADAMS
Biloxi attorney Roger Harris received a suspended five-day jail sentence after being found in contempt of court by Second Circuit Court Judge Rubel Griffin for being tardy for a case in the current term of the Hancock County Circuit Court.

Harris and Gulfport lawyer Otto (Skip) Wusnack were absent when their cases were called on October 11, and Judge Griffin ordered arrest warrants issued on both lawyers.

Wusnack was fined $25 by the judge, and Harris' associate showed up at the courtroom late on the 11th to discuss the matter with the judge.

"You might get by with being late in Gulfport, but here (in Hancock County) we don't have the load of cases Gulfport does," Griffin told Harris.

"You showed no concern at all, and I am sentencing you to five days in jail and suspending it," he continued.

"The next time you're 15 minutes late, you'll spend five days with Sheriff Ladner. He sure won't let a lawyer get by," Griffin concluded.

According to Harris, the case involving clients Randy and Dicky Shaw was assigned to associate Donald Johnson of Harris' firm located at Edgewater Plaza.

Harris told the judge he fired Johnson in August because Johnson failed to show up for other cases, and that Johnson had taken many case files, including the Shaw case with him when he reportedly moved to Ohio to work for the Internal Revenue Service.

Court Administrator Gail Parker testified that her office had called Harris' secretary numerous times to remind her of the case and had sent a pre-trial notification on Judge Griffin's letterhead directly to Harris' office.

"It is not unusual for Mr. Harris not to send back acknowledgements, he very seldom does," Ms. Parker told the court.

Harris said he occasionally overlooks the notices.

"Pat Blaize, my regular secretary, has been in a hospital since July. The girl I have in the office now is not sure of legal office procedures. We attorneys put a lot of faith in our secretaries," Harris told the judge.

Judge Griffin said tardiness was not an unusual act for Harris.

"This irritates me. This is not the first time—it (tardiness) is a continual thing with you. During the Fayard murder trial, you let the jury wait an hour at lunch and you were fined. Judge Logan fined you and that didn't help," Judge Griffin said.

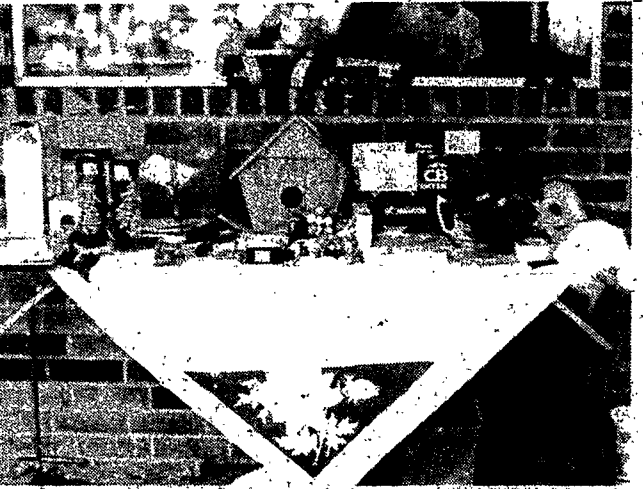

"I fully intend to make you spend time in jail. You are still in contempt of court for ignoring correspondence on my letterhead," said the judge before handing out the five-day sentence.

USM cohosts tax revolt sessions

The University of Southern Mississippi, in cooperation with the Mississippi Committee for the Humanities, is making preparations to host 12 programs to be held from Jackson to the Coast on "The Great Tax Revolt: Winners and Losers."

Project director Dr. James Lea said panelists at each forum will attempt to "clarify the so-called tax revolt and interact with one another and the audience in an effort to get a better understanding of its implications..."

Lea said, however, the Committee for the Humanities, is a non-partisan agency "and these problems we are bringing forth are strictly for public discussion and not for any type of public policy."

The Committee's grant of $6,200, according to Lea, is earmarked for panelists' honorariums. Lea said each five-member panel will consist of two local, non-academic citizens. Civic groups interested in such a program should contact Lea at USM, Southern Station Box 428, Hattiesburg, 39401 or call 266-7207.

Scouting's Area Council engaged in manpower drive

It's round-up time in New Orleans Area Council, which includes Hancock County, but the Boy Scouts aren't looking for cattle - they're looking for boys between the ages of 8 and 17.

"We hope to enroll 1,000 new Cub Scouts and 1,500 new Boy Scouts during the next 10 weeks," said Frank E. Lawrence, Jr., scout executive.

"Scouting has plenty to offer boys of all ages - and we're out to deliver that program to as many boys as we possibly can."

Cub Scouting is for boys 8 through 10; Boy Scouts are 11 through 17. The Cub Scout program is based in the home, with some outdoor activities;

Boy Scouts have a broader-based program featuring outdoor camping and high-adventure skills.

Scout Troops and Cub Packs throughout the New Orleans Area Council will be holding special events of their own to attract new members.

"While our main interest now is enrolling new boys in the Cub Scout and Boy Scout programs, Lawrence said, 'we always need more adult volunteer leaders.'"

"If you're interested in helping boys grow into healthy, productive, participating citizens, call the New Orleans Area Council Service Center, 2047 Airline Highway at 837-0780.

DAY CARE

This week brings the happy opportunity of introducing another staff member, Rev. Arthur Hall.

Rev. Hall, a native of Alabama, moved to Waveland in 1939 with his wife, the former Rose Peterson. He is the father of seven children: four boys and three girls.

REV. ARTHUR HALL

His wife passed away in 1975 and he remarried two years ago the former Edna Mae Goldsmith. They now reside in Bay St. Louis.

When Rev. Hall came to Waveland he took a very active part in the community, which he adopted. He was instrumental in building the Waveland Church of God, and became its pastor in 1950, which pastorate he has held for the past 24 years. He says his congregation is small but very friendly.

Rev. Hall, himself a Senior Citizen, was employed by the Center as a CETA worker in 1976 in the Informational and Referral Department doing minor repairs on the homes of Seniors.

In March, 1977 he was employed by SMPDD as a bus driver for the Day Care Center, the position he now holds.

Add to his duties assisting the instructor of arts and crafts in class work; building cabinets and other carpenter work, and doing many other things that are essential to the operation of the Center.

Many years have come and gone for the Arthur Hall that arrived in Hancock County those many years ago.

"His family has grown in size, with many grand children now added.

There have been good and bad times, but if you take the time to talk with him, as I have had the opportunity, you would surely know that when he adopted Hancock County as his own community, he became the richer for it.

Rev. Hall has led a life of dedication to and love for his fellow man.

All of his young life, and now as a Senior who has weathered the years, he is still enriching the lives of many. He is another asset to the Day Care Center.

HERE & THERE

This is the part of the column we originated to relate the enjoyment of others, and for you to share your individual events, with us all.

When you celebrate an anniversary birthday, take a trip, visit a relative or friend, or have out of town guests, please allow us to share in all of the good times with you by calling me at 467-4292.

Mr. and Mrs. Reggie Ross of Waveland celebrated 55 years of marital bliss with an open house hosted by their daughter Regina and her husband Bob Helmer Sunday, Oct. 15th. The family and guests of all ages from infancy to seniors helped the Rosses have an anniversary long in their memory.

My apology to my good friends Fred and Ita Stromeyer who celebrated their 59th Wedding Anniversary Sept. 29 and Leslie and Cecile Galivan who celebrated their 49th.

Somehow the information I received was lost among all my notes. My congratulations to all of you on a total of 152 years of happy married life.

Why don't the polls ever report how many of these happy occasions take place throughout our land as well as the unhappy ones that end up in divorce?

A little bird has whispered to me that Andrew Dilley of the County Home has purchased a brand new harmonica and has learned to play it ever so well.

See you at our next party, Andy. We'll expect a special solo from you!

WAVELAND

President Paul Loup and his wife Julia of Hancock County Chapter No. 1114, American Association of Retired Persons, were extended an invitation by the state director, Robert Brasfield to participate in the AARP area leadership meeting at the Shelton Jet Port Inn, Orlando, Fla., Oct. 19.

Discussion topics included joint state legislative committee relationships with chapters; pharmacy services; and status of driver improvement program in area IV which includes Mississippi.

Among dignitaries present were J. Leonard Johnson, president of AARP; C. Dale Hoover, Area IV vice-president; and outgoing assistant state director of Mississippi, Mrs. Marie Ryan, who gave a banquet to show here appreciation for the cooperation and many kindnesses which had been bestowed during her term of office.

Paul and Julia took the opportunity to visit the famous Disney World while in Orlando. They enjoyed the trip which was devoid of any mishaps, but glad to be back in good ol' Waveland.

BRUNCH

All Seniors from Hancock County are invited to attend the "Coffee and Biscuits" session every Tuesday morning from 9 to 11:30 a.m. at the Waveland Civic Center on Coleman Avenue.

Blood Pressure readings by RSVP volunteers Julia Loup, Pere Cabibi and Juliette Cook, and those delicious biscuits and coffee, served by Una Nuber.

So come and enjoy the goodies and a friendly chat with us.

FUNDING

In the event you wonder whence comes our operational expenses for the Bay St. Louis Center, and all programs, kindly give your thanks to the State Department of Public Welfare, Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland, and, the Hancock County Chapter of the United Way.

ILLNESS

We are sorry to report that three of our Seniors have been hospitalized in Hancock General: Blanche Collins, Mabel Egloff and Joe Leddy.

All of our wishes and prayers for a speedy recovery. You are missed as are all of our members who are absent for any reason.

Incidentally, Joe returned home Tuesday night and is feeling better.

CLOSING

I am happy to report this edition we have no bereavements to list. So yours truly, in closing, would like to share a few thoughts in this space.

It is so good to meet a Friend from many years ago, and talk about old times and all the joys we used to know.

Experiences wonderful, and some that makes us scared, the many feelings mutual, the problems that we shared.

And we may talk of certain friends, whom now we see no more, as God decided for the best to go ahead and call them home.

It is always so good to meet a Friend, to see his smile again,

And oh, so good to discover he is much the same as he was then, a little grayer yes, a little more stooped perhaps, but oh, so much wiser, for the years we've spent.

A pleasant and inspiring event in every way, when I met a Friend, and take the time to chat today. It seems as though I really have at last found that very elusive road again to yesterday.

News Brief

GEOGRAPHIC SPECIAL

"Miss Goodall and the Wild Chimpanzees," a National Geographic Special produced in the early '70's, will be broadcast at 8 p.m., Monday, October 30, on the Mississippi ETV Network.

Working alone in Tanzania's Gombe Stream Game Reserve in East Africa, Jane Goodall presents a remarkable picture of the social relationships of chimpanzees. For their part, the chimps tolerate Miss Goodall as a harmless, possible inferior, creature and a sure source of bananas. She considers herself fortunate that she witnessed a young male chimp, who left for a whole day, rejoin his family.

"His small sister put her arms around his neck," she said, "and he went to kiss his mother—a little peck on her face."

One of Miss Goodall's most significant discoveries was that chimps fashion and use crude implements—the beginnings of tool use. The chimps in Gombe Reserve devise from twigs simple tools to aid in fishing out termites from their earthen nests. She also found that chimps make ingenious drinking "sponges" by crumpling leaves.

TURNABOUT'S FAIR PLAY—Pistol Pete, the 24-year-old blind pony who spends a great deal of his time riding human beings around on his back in horse show rings and the streets of Bay St. Louis, here gets a ride himself from his mistress, Lilly Harmon and her mother Jean Harmon in the back seat of Mrs. Harmon's car. Pistol Pete has evoked many a double-take from motorists who are startled to see him on his frequent ventures about in the car's back seat. (Staff photo-Edgar Perez)

Episcopal School Week marked by local units

Christ Episcopal Day School and Coast Episcopal High School joined with hundreds of other Episcopal schools throughout the United States in marking the observance of Episcopal School Week, Monday of this week through next Sunday.

The week-long observance of Episcopal School Week has occurred for the past decade in close proximity to the observance of National Education Week. The earliest Episcopal schooling dates from the early days of our country.

Locally, Christ Episcopal Day School has been offering education since February, 1950, and Coast Episcopal High began in 1969.

Dr. Paul Shafer, headmaster of both schools, said the schools are observing the week by having special emphasis in each class.

A Communion service for all students at the elementary school was held at Christ

Episcopal Church at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

Parents and guests are invited to attend these two services.

Dr. Shafer will speak at both the 7:30 and 10 a.m. services at Christ Church, Bay St. Louis, Sunday.

Some cleanup helps

It is good to see the amount of cleanup which Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner's deputy J. W. Page has been doing recently around the courthouse with the residents of the Hancock Hotel.

It does a community good to see pride taken by governmental agencies in trying to keep the public grounds neat.

All we now need is for more of us residents and businesses to get busy and do the same thing. A few gallons of paint and a few strokes of a rake can do wonders in a community.

Let us all get into a position so we can commend ourselves the way J. W. should be commended.

Hancock North Central gets new scoreboard

By LESLIE WILLIAMS

The Hancock County School Board authorized $2,548 Monday to be used for gymnasium improvements and carpeting for a school principal's office.

The Board received three bids for carpeting which will be installed in Hancock North Central Principal Thad Haskins' office.

House of Carpet of Gulfport bid $987; Sherwin Williams of Gulfport, $554 and Whitfield Carpet, Draperies and Wallpaper of Bay St. Louis $975.

The Board accepted Sherwin Williams' bid.

A $1,064 proposal to supply a scoreboard to be placed in the Hancock North Central Gymnasium was also approved by the Board.

Mississippi School Supply Co. of Long Beach was the only company to submit a bid on the scoreboard.

Purchase of an indoor-outdoor carpet to be used at the entrance of the Hancock North Central Gymnasium was authorized by the Board.

Haskins said the carpet should cost approximately $130.

School Board Member Louie Ladner said the carpet is needed to prevent sand from getting onto the gymnasium's new hardwood floor.

Allocation of $500 in activity funds to Coach Roland Ladner to cover costs of painting the Hancock North Central gymnasium lobby was authorized by the Board.

The Board took under advisement Gulfview Elementary School Principal Harlan Hill's recommendation stating that substitute teacher Beverly Ladner had requested to be removed from the substitute teacher list at Gulfview Elementary, and that Shirley Shubert agreed to take the matter under advisement following School Board Member Johnny Banks' motion to reserve action on the issue until Beverly Ladner submits her resignation to the Board.

Employment of George Heitzmann as official land appraiser for the Hancock County School District and Steve Draper as official land surveyor for Hancock County School District lands was sanctioned by the Board.

Sanction for employing Deborah Cuevas as study hall monitor at Hancock North Central was given by the Board.

Board Members Johnny Banks and Oris Ladner voted to hire Cuevas and Woodrow Ladner and Louie Ladner abstained from voting.

Both Board Members said they could not vote because they are related to Deborah Cuevas.

Suggestions for creation of a district maintenance procedural policy was submitted to the Board by Louie Ladner.

The Board took the matter under advisement.

Corps issues local water job permits

September permit actions affecting navigable Hancock County waters have been released by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Albert P. Strong, Sally J. Strong and Lawrence Noto were issued permits by the Corps to do work on oyster reefs in the Mississippi Sound.

The Corps reported Charles Varnado either canceled or withdrew his permit proposal to place 2,500 barrels of live oysters over 25 acres in Hancock County.

The Corps also issued G. P. Maras a Mississippi General Permit to construct two boat docks at Carter Lake off Jourdan River in Hancock County.

One dock will be 25 feet by four feet, and the other 50 feet by four feet.

HARD TO GET TO—Waveland fireman Reginald Fayard directs water to burning underbrush Monday off Jeff Davis Avenue. The Waveland Fire Department has been called out several times this week to control fires in the heavy thickets between Jeff Davis Avenue and the Railroad tracks. One utility trailer was destroyed by a woods fire in Waveland last week. Bay St. Louis Fire Department was summoned to the residence of Edgar Jones on Sycamore Street Sunday morning for a house fire which was extinguished after considerable damage. The fire was well underway when the fire unit arrived. (Staff photo-Ellis Cuevas)

Council ok's Bouslog sewer job contract

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Bay St. Louis Council, in a brief recess meeting Tuesday, authorized a contract between the City and Graham Construction Company on the Bouslog Street sewer extension.

Council attorney Joseph Gex, after a review of the contract, said it is a good contract. Councilman Wilmer Seymour made the motion authorizing Mayor Larry Bennett and Council president James Thriftley to sign the contract and the motion was seconded by Pete Benvenuti and carried unanimously.

Graham Construction was low bidder on the sewer extension and Engineer for the project Joe Brown, Inc. of Gulfport said everything was in order. In other business, Council opened three bids on new police cars and held them for study. Bidding were Hille Oldsmobile, Inc.; Schuffert Pontiac, car bid of $5,845 and two car bid of $11,690.

Hille's bids were $12,176 and on one car, $8,068.

Schuffert's bids at $12,331 and one car at $8,165. All bids were for four door sedans built to police specifications.

Council heard a report on a Senior Citizens contract which was presented on Oct. 17 and held for the board attorney to check.

Gex said there were some word changes he recommends and he is in the process of rewriting the contract. Gex said there weren't any big changes.

Council received a proposal from Broadway and Seals Engineering firm on the Necaise, deMontluzin and St. George Street drainage problems and held them for further study.

Council recessed the 15 minute meeting until Monday, Oct. 30 at 5 p.m.

Oceanographer

bike collision

A 39-year-old oceanographer at NSTL in Hancock County died after his bicycle was struck by a car on East Second Street at Esby Avenue in Pass Christian.

The accident occurred Thursday, Oct. 12. Gerald Egloff, 1574 E. 2nd St., died at the Gulfport Memorial Hospital about 6:15 p.m. the same day, according to Ed Alley, Pass Christian chief of police.

According to a coroner's report, Egloff riding a bicycle, and Joseph Niolet, driver of the car, were both west bound on Second Street when the accident occurred.

Police said Niolet steered his vehicle in an attempt to avoid the accident but that he had not seen Egloff in time to avoid striking the bicycle from the rear.

Police records indicated that no charges have been filed against Niolet, 25 Rt. 2, Box 44-A, Pass Christian.

Egloff, a native of Wisconsin, is survived by his wife, Ajo, and daughter, both of Pass Christian.

Nixon's Coast visit remains controversial

By LESLIE WILLIAMS

Feelings toward former President Richard Nixon's upcoming visit to the Biloxi Coliseum at 7:30 p.m. on Nov. 11 vary greatly among members of American Legion Posts in Hancock County.

Approximately 60,000 tickets will be available on a first come - first served basis.

There is no charge for the tickets which may be obtained at the Coliseum. "I'll be glad to see him come to Biloxi," exclaims John Wilkerson, Hancock County Veterans Affairs Officer and Adjutant of Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Post 139 in Bay St. Louis.

"Nixon is my man," Wilkerson continued. "He was a big help to people along the Gulf Coast after Hurricane Camille."

"He was the one who got us a disaster bill to help the Mississippi Coast rebuild after the storm," emphasizes Wilkerson.

Henry Capdepon, who has been a member of the American Legion longer than anyone in Mississippi and was among founders of the organization following W.W.I. said, "I'm not in favor of Nixon's visit."

"We're all subject to making mistakes," explains Capdepon, also a member of the Clement Bontemps Post.

"But I think he did the right thing when he got out of public life."

"He's just trying to keep his name in front of the people so he can be remembered by generations in the future," asserts Capdepon.

"He has no business coming out in public," Capdepon asserts.

"You've got to understand though," remarks Capdepon, "I've had 60 years of service in the American Legion and been Legion Commander for six of those years - I'm old."

"I'm about 80 percent blind, I can't read anymore. So, I'm not as informed about this matter with Nixon as I should be."

"When the boys returned from World War II, I was Commander, but I turned all leadership responsibilities over to them - leadership is their responsibility now," concluded the veteran.

Wilkerson says, "A combined effort by veteran's organizations is making the Nixon visit possible."

"The veterans simply wanted a controversial speaker," Wilkerson added articulating the organizations' official stance on the issue.

Swimming therapy for handicapped program offered

The Waveland mother of a handicapped child is currently engaged in the organization of a summer swimming therapy program for handicapped children in Hancock County.

"I realized the benefit of swimming therapy for my child when I saw it in use at Children's Hospital in New Orleans," said Mrs. Debbie Anselmo.

Mrs. Anselmo, a Red Cross certified swimming instructor, is seeking indications from parents who would like to have their handicapped child participate in the proposed program.

"We need to have your child's name and your indication that he or she can participate in the program which is to be designed for youngsters between ages one and 18 years of age."

Mrs. Anselmo is currently seeking an institutional swimming pool for the sessions. She noted insurance regulation virtually rule out use of a private pool for such a program.

Mrs. Anselmo at 467-5289 and Mrs. Diane Borge at 467-5289 are accepting calls from interested parents of handicapped children and others in assisting with the program.

The city administrations in Bay St. Louis and Waveland and Brother Albert Ledet, swimming instructor at St. Stanislaus High School, have sanctioned the proposed program, Mrs. Anselmo indicated.

There's actually little relationship in investment capital and going out on your own.

Income comes to labor or to capital. You have labor, and hopefully skills to contribute. Capital investment also must have a return, but it doesn't follow that the same individual must provide both.

To be sure you could get more income as the provider of labor and capital, but for every skilled individual without capital there are untapped reservoirs of funds. The main requirement would be a good work record, stability and a convincing manner.

The old cliché that only those who don't need funds can find financing is no longer valid. You need collateral, but it can be work skills and stability rather than tangible goods.

Another factor is that many labor intensive fields, such as unfranchised restaurants, painting, cleaning, and lawn services, etc., require a very small, if any, capital investment.

To be sure you will be limited to income from labor, but in many instances your income will be based on services performed rather than hours on the time clock.

The service industry taken as a whole, is becoming a dominant economic force in our society. Most are labor intensive, as opposed to having capital required.

But the big factor for you or anyone considering striking out alone, is the special skill, attitude and promotion required.

Promotion is necessary, for you aren't selling nuts and bolts in most instances.

Services are generally intangible and require some illusion along with price and warranty.

Selling a clean home is not the same as selling a new home. A home painter is selling the same old house with a new facade.

So learn your skill well. Then learn to go along with people, by getting yourself service oriented—create for yourself an attitude of service.

Then project this attitude in your local newspaper. Before long you can have all the capital you thought you needed.

Joppa Temple's first ceremonial parade slated in Gulfport Nov. 2

Shriners from Hancock County and a four-state region will participate in a pre-ceremonial initiation parade in Gulfport beginning at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 4, sponsored by Joppa Temple, Mississippi's newest Shrine unit with headquarters in Gulfport.

Parade route will begin at the junction of Hwy. 49 and 25th Street, moving south to 14th Street.

The occasion marks the first ceremonial conducted by the new temple since acquiring its charter in Detroit July 13 from the Imperial Council, Ancient Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine (A.A.O.N.M.S.).

The Detroit event was the first time in 66 years that a new Shrine Temple was chartered in the state. Hamasa Temple was chartered in 1893 in Meridian; Wahabi was chartered in 1912. Masons who have completed their 32nd degree in the Scottish Rite bodies of the order and those who have completed instruction in the York Rite masonic bodies are eligible to become Shriners.

Once initiated into the Shrine he is called a 'Noble', and it becomes his obligation to help support the Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children and their Burns Institutes.

Eighteen orthopedic hospitals, the first of which was opened in Shreveport, La., and three Burns hospital units are maintained by the Shriners.

El Karuba Temple of Shreveport will be the largest out-of-state group represented on the Coast with 250 advance reservations already filled. Ceremonial headquarters will be the Sheraton Biloxi. A hospitality tour and dance is scheduled Friday night at the Sheraton. On Saturday night, dances will be featured at the Sheraton and the Hilton's Grand Casino.

Ernest Melvin, illustrious potentate of Joppa Temple, stated that the new temple's membership has reached 1,900 with shriners from 12 southern counties represented on its roster.

"At present," he said, "we have exclusive jurisdiction in Harrison, Jackson, Hancock, Pearl River, Stone, Greene, and George counties; while we share with the other two temples in Lamar, Perry, Forrest, Marion and Waltham counties."

Serving with Melvin are Bernard Krebs, Pascagoula, chief rabban; Harmon

Johnson, Gulfport, asst. rabban; Gabe Churchwell, Leakesville, high priest; W. Robert Taylor, Hattiesburg, oriental guide; Robert Coleman, Bay St. Louis, recorder; and Dr. James Waddell, Ocean Springs, treasurer.

Gus Anderson, Biloxi, is the potentate's chief aide.

At a recent meeting, the potentate announced that a new internationally famous circus has been engaged by the temple to play the Coast Coliseum on March 24 and 25, 1979.

Brief

WWII

The true story of World War II, as told by the soldiers, sailors, marines and airmen themselves who fought on the front lines, is the subject of a new Time-Life television series, "World War II: G.I. Diary". The 25 part series can be seen at 9 p.m., Mondays, beginning October 30, on the Mississippi ETV Network. Narrated by Lloyd Bridges, the series utilizes thousands of feet of combat footage, much of it in color and never before seen on television. The stars of the series are not the Generals or "the brass," but the men who dug the foxholes, sat in the pitching hulls of the LST's and the cockpits of P-51's. Each half hour program deals with a specific aspect of the war—a decisive battle, a famous fighting unit—and each story is woven together from the personal recollections of two or three veterans who actually took part. The premiere episode is "Target: Tokyo," a dramatic story of three U.S. airmen on a B-29 bombing run to Japan.

State historian tells Bay's Historic Places

By EDGAR PEREZ

A Mississippi architectural historian from the Department of Archives and History in Jackson has designated certain areas of Bay St. Louis for inclusion in the National Register of Historic Places.

Pending final approval in Washington, properties in the designated areas will be:

-Eligible for 50-50 matching federal grants-in-aid for rehabilitation and restoration.

-Eligible for tax benefits for income-producing properties as defined by the Tax Reform Act of 1976.

-Protected from adverse effects from any federally funded or licensed agency or project.

Mrs. Adele Cramer of the Division for Historic Preservation of the state archives department, said the locations she has picked for nomination to the Historical Register include:

-That portion of Beach Boulevard from US-90 to Ramoneda Street.

-The south side of Main Street from Beach Boulevard to Touline Street, including the Hancock County Courthouse and Main Street United Methodist Church.

-The north side of Citizen Street from Beach Boulevard to Hancock Street, including some old structures on the St. Stanislaus High School campus, the L&N Railroad Depot, and some commercial structures across from the depot.

-Both sides of Washington Street from Beach Boulevard to Hancock Street.

-Bay St. Louis City Hall and Cedar Rest Cemetery.

-Ms. Cramer said she is also considering Ullman Avenue and the Bay St. Louis Junior High School.

"There are many architecturally significant structures in Bay St. Louis which are in areas where the rate of intrusions prevents the areas from being considered," the official noted.

She defined an "intrusion" as a "building altered so that it doesn't reflect its original architectural characteristics, or one too new for consideration."

She noted several structures on McDonald Lane are classical examples of "folk architecture."

Ms. Cramer pointed out that property owners who accept restoration grants will be affected by a minimum of restrictions, although such restorations necessarily must follow Department of the Interior guidelines.

The National Register of Historical Places is administered by the Heritage Conservation and Recreation Service of the U.S. Department of the Interior, she explained.

"Ms. Cramer said she will return to Bay St. Louis in January to conduct informational public meetings on the boundaries she has selected and to further outline "the valuable architectural heritage which is in this area."

She said she will also seek to generate interest among local residents to push for local historic zoning.

"Ideally, a committee will finance an inventory of historic places. That financing can be matched by the state, and the state can draw from such local inventories for nominations to the Historical Register as well as for other purposes," she revealed.

Local historic zoning would also prevent "demolition by neglect," according to a spokesman for the Hancock County Historical Society which encouraged Ms. Cramer in her efforts here.

PRESERVATION OFFICIAL—Architectural Historian Adele Cramer of Jackson assesses historical value of 'vernacular cottage' on Cue Street across from Hancock County Courthouse during a recent tour of older areas of Bay St. Louis to be nominated through the State Department of Archives and History for inclusion in the National Register of Historic Places, a designation which makes properties eligible for federal grants for rehabilitation and restoration. fect, that person's home could be reassessed at $2,000. With the current homestead exemption law of $5,000, that person, probably on a fixed income, would lose the house because he couldn't pay the new taxes," he continued.

"Reassessment would only be favorable if the legislators raised the homestead to around $35,000," Murtagh said.

Murtagh explained how assessment taxes were computed. He said building permits are not the basis for the computation.

"I conduct an on-site inspection. I look inside the house, measure square footage, and give a fair market value assessment per square foot," Murtagh said. The tax assessor has the owner fill out a card describing the property, listing improvements in all rooms of the house, square footage of the building, name of contractor or engineer, construction materials used to build the dwelling, and total cost, including labor.

He then has the owner sign a taxpayer's oath, swearing information listed on the card is true.

According to Murtagh, this is what tax assessments are based on.

A case similar to the Bannister complaint, involving Ellarose S. Cardin, was continued by the court Monday until a ruling on the Bannister matter is handed down.

Stagnant Ditch...

waterway running parallel to Highway 603 behind my house is defined as a waterway on my official subdivision plat describing my lots and the area around them.

"But a waterway to my understanding," continued Cruthirds, "is a flowing body of water, not a stagnant sewerage dump."

"I've spoken to the lawyer for Shoreline Park Subdivision, Mr. Gerald Gex, and he says that Shoreline Park has no responsibilities concerning my property," Cruthirds grumbled.

"I moved here to Hancock County from Slidell, La. in April of 1973 and I called the Supervisor for this Beat, Mr. James Travirca to ask him about the stagnant water behind my house and the culverts—he told me it was only temporary."

"But when I read in the Sea Coast Echo that Avenue B was one of the roads to be paved in the near future, I called Travirca again and he told me that he thought I was talking about some other culvert before and that he didn't realize it was the one on Avenue B and he said he couldn't do anything about that."

Travirca, of Beat 5, told the Sea Coast Echo he was mistaken about the location when he first spoke to Cruthirds about the matter, but has now told Cruthirds nothing can be done about Avenue B crossing the canal.

"Those culverts were put in long before my term in office," explained Travirca, "I'm not responsible for them being there."

"I'm going to have to pave Avenue B over the canal with the culverts running underneath, because the only other alternative is to build a bridge over the street, and that's too expensive," Travirca said, in pleading his position. "I'm sorry, but that's the way it has to be," the official added.

Cruthirds said other losses have befallen him because the waterway which is now stagnant water behind his house.

"I've had to sell both of my boats, one for $400 and the other for $1,000 because the location of the culverts prevents a pleasure boat to the river and bay," Cruthirds complained.

"Property value is also decreasing because of the culverts under Avenue B," said Cruthirds.

"On the north side of Avenue B where the waterway is flowing, a 50 by 200-foot lot was sold for $3,500—on my side, the south side of Avenue B, where the water is stagnant because of the culverts, a 50 by 200-foot lot sold for $1,500. It even had a fence," muttered Cruthirds.

"I don't know what to do now," remarked Cruthirds, "I guess I'll have to hire a lawyer."

Football field dedication set

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Waveland Elementary School's Football field will be dedicated today, according to J. D. McCullough, Superintendent of the Bay St. Louis Municipal School System.

An elementary football game on the new field between Waveland and North Bay Schools starts at 1 p.m. with dedication ceremonies and open house at the Waveland School to follow.

The ground for the football field was purchased in 1964. The field was filled last year with soil supplied by a local contractor and hauled in trucks from the Hancock County Board of Supervisors and the Cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

The invocation for the dedication is scheduled to be given by the Rev. Charles Clark, pastor, Assembly of God Church, Waveland; the Anthem by the Bay High Band; and guest speaker will be State Representative J. P. Compretta.

Mayor's Larry Bennett and Johnny Longo will cut the ribbon.

After the dedication, refreshments will be served in the school cafeteria.

HISTORIC BUILDINGS

Businesses that rejuvenate buildings of historic interest can cash in on certain tax benefits, according to Dr. Dale Flesher of the University of Mississippi accountancy faculty. Dr. Flesher, writing in a recent issue of "Mississippi's Business," a publication of the Ole Miss Bureau of Business and Economic Research, discussed tax incentives that encourage preservation of certified historic structures. Under a new law, Dr. Flesher says, individuals who reconduct certified historic buildings for use as commercial property can deduct their costs over five years, much quicker than the usual 25-year period allowed for tax deductions on some business ventures. The law also provides that a certified historic structure cannot be demolished without certain tax penalties, he said.

OVERSEEDING

Overseeded ryegrass on bahia, bermuda and dallgrass pastures can provide economical winter and spring grazing for the brood cow herd plus serving as a backup to a feeder grazing program.

It is best to overseed permanent sod no more often than every other year. Overseeding every year can increase weed infestation and reduce grass stand. Other important factors to consider in selecting fields to overseed are whether these fields can be control grazed and will allow the breeding program to be managed.

Concentrate cattle to graze off as much grass as possible. If all grass is not removed by grazing, then clip close before overseeding. Leaving sod taller than 3 inches will slow ryegrass growth and often no grazing will be produced until early spring.

Overseeding with no sod disturbance usually causes ryegrass to grow off slowly. Shallow cultivation allows the ryegrass seed to have good soil contact and reduce competition from the established sod. A spring-tined harrow or field cultivator, such as a "Triple K" equipped for pasture use, or a pulverizing disk with most of the set out will give satisfactory surface cultivation. A harrow run at a 45 angle to the direction the disk or cultivator will cover the seed and smooth the field. If soil compaction is a problem, a spring-tined renovator run 8-10 inches deep on the contour is a good soil preparation method. Breaking the soil compaction layer allows water, organic residues and surface applied lime and fertilizer to move into the root area.

Increased forage production can be expected next summer from these renovated fields. If a chisel plow or subsoiler is used, a good disking is often required to level the fields. After renovation with any implement, the field should be smoothed, seeded; then cultipacked for quick germination.

Planting 30 to 40 lbs. of ryegrass per acre by mid-October will usually give grazing by early January if adequately nitrated. The most efficient utilization of nitrogen fertilizer is received if a small amount is applied at planting and the balance is topdressed after ryegrass is up to stand.

Applying the fall application of about 60 lbs. of nitrogen at planting will give ryegrass a quicker start, but the permanent sod will often be stimulated and will use some of this nitrogen. Lime, phosphorus and potash needed for the whole year can be applied at planting.

County Agent's Notes

FARMERS MARKET

The Hancock County Farmers Market is still in operation. It will continue to operate on Wednesday and Saturday from 7 a.m. to noon. This past Saturday there were eight trucks with produce to sell. The market will continue to stay open as long as enough produce is available for market. So if you need fresh vegetables go by the Hancock County Fairgrounds and support the Farmers Market.

GRAZING MANAGEMENT
Begin grazing ryegrass when it reaches a height of eight inches. Graze down to about two inches, then rotate animals to another pasture, or remove and feed.

Ryegrass will produce more growth at a faster rate if good grazing management is practiced.

GARDEN VEGETABLES
You home gardeners can save your remaining vegetables by harvesting them when a frost is predicted in your area.

Leafy greens, broccoli and other hardy vegetables will survive a freeze, but tender vegetables such as tomatoes and peppers will not.

You should also harvest sweet potatoes before frost kills the vines. After harvest, store the crop in an area where the temperature stays about 55 degrees and the air is moist. Potatoes should cure in about one week under these conditions.

LIME THIS FALL
A good liming program offers the greatest return for each dollar invested on soils that need lime. Lime is critically needed on about four million acres of row crop and pasture lands in Mississippi.

Fall is the ideal time to apply lime to row crops. Although the state's farmers applied about 700,000 tons of lime last year, about two million tons annually are needed for top production.

SUBSOILING NEEDED
Subsoiling your cropland will put more dollars in your pocket next harvesting season. A good job of subsoiling will increase water intake, rooting depth, soil aeration and crop yields. It will also reduce water runoff, erosion and, often, nematode problems. With another dry year in 1978, it was easy to see that crops held up better on fields where adequate subsoiling was done last year.

Subsoiling is best done in the fall when soils are dry and the subsoil is shattered more easily. Subsoil diagonally to the row direction at a depth of 14 to 20 inches to break plow pans.

CUT LOSSES
Harvesting losses caused by improperly adjusted combines can leave potential profit in the field.

Most of these losses occur at the combine's gathering unit. Automatic headers and floating cutters are helping producers get more beans into the combine. Also, correct matching of reel and ground speed will leave fewer soybeans on the ground.

You need to check behind your combine for losses. If they are more than three percent, you may be leaving profit in the fields.

VA news

Q - Does the Veterans Administration require a down payment on a VA home loan?
A - Not necessarily. There is no VA requirement for a down payment if the purchase price or cost does not exceed the reasonable value of the property. However, the lender may require a down payment to adequately secure the loan.

Q - I am currently entitled to CHAMPVA benefits, but I will reach age 65 next month. How will this affect my CHAMPVA benefits?

A - Persons eligible to receive Social Security Medicare benefits at age 65 will lose their entitlement to CHAMPVA benefits.

Q - I am a veteran attending school under the GI Bill and am applying for a VA pension. Do I report my VA educational assistance as income on my pension application?

A - Yes. VA educational assistance is considered income for pension benefits. You may deduct tuition, fees and related educational expenses from the amount of educational assistance received.

Not all veterans are ex-servicemen - some 620,000 or two per cent of the veteran population - are women.

Veterans of the armed forces received a total of $4.7 billion in compensation during 1977 for disability incurred while in service. The amount for individuals is based on degree of disability.

Since the Revolutionary War, nearly 39 million men and women have served on active duty in the U.S. military.

Max Cleland is the tenth Administrator of Veterans Affairs since the Veterans Administration was established in 1930.

Hospital based home care, a Veterans Administration program which sent medical treatment teams into homes of chronically ill patients after hospital discharge 78,000 times last year, frees hospital beds for more acutely ill veterans.

The Veterans Administration is processing compensation, pension and education claims faster and more accurately with an automated data processing system, "TARGET".

To meet the distinctive housing needs of eligible severely disabled ex-service personnel, the Veterans Administration offers grants for specially adapted housing and escort or stand-in service during contacts with builders, architects or lenders.

PRC buried by Copiah-Lincoln

Pearl River College made history here Saturday night, but it's the type of history that head coach J.C. Arban and his Wildcats didn't want.

For the first time in the history of the school, according to records available,

Pearl River College had more than 40 points scored against them in one game. On top of that the Wildcats were beaten by 38 points, another first for the usually potent Wildcats. Copiah-Lincoln Junior College, a team not having an exceptionally good year, scored 31 points in the first half enroute to the record breaking victory.

The loss was the fourth in the last five weeks for the Cats and it evened the season's ledger at 4-4 after PRC began with a 3-0 count earlier in the year.

Two games remain on the Wildcats' schedule for this year and at least one win is needed for the 1978 Wildcats to keep from being only the second PRC team in history to post a losing record.

On the opening kickoff PRC fumbled and the Co-Lin team, a club that had not scored on the Wildcats in three years, and not defeated the Cats since 1970, found themselves with a first and ten at the Pearl River 27.

Four plays later Roger Maddock kicked a 31 yard field goal and the point on-ought began. However, PRC did have a threatening drive that stopped on the Co-Lin 25 after being stopped on fourth down and inches.

Pearl River scored its lone touchdown when tailback Henry Smith scooted right end for 14 yards and six points. Andy Coleman booted the extra point. With 1:23 to go in the contest the Wolves scored a final touchdown with a Riley pass to Allen Mardis from 15 yards out. The PAT was good and Co-Lin had won 45-7.

PRC gave up 10 turnovers, six by fumbles, and four interceptions. The Wolves didn't misstep all night. Pearl River did lead in first downs 22-11 and trailed in total yards 288 to 224.

In 1950 Holmes scored 38 points against the Wildcats and that was the most points ever tallied against a PRC club until Saturday night. In 1968 Perk beat the Wildcats 33-0 and that was the biggest point difference until this past game.

Saturday night the Wildcats will play Southwest at Summit and will close out the season at home against Mississippi Delta on Nov. 4.

Crab Bowl scheduled Saturday

By RICH ADAMS

The Gulfview seventh-and-eighth-grade Bulldogs will meet the Saucier Elementary gridiron squad Saturday at 7 p.m. in the fifth annual Crab Bowl at Gulfview Elementary. The game between the top area elementary teams will follow a fish fry in the Gulfview cafeteria from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. The Crab Bowl is sponsored by the Gulfview Booster Club.

"We won our 19th game in a row on Thursday," said Bulldog coach Curtis Thaxton. "Hancock North Central hasn't got anything on us," he added.

The Gulfview squad boasts a 7-0-1 record for the season. Last week Thaxton's squad handed Lizana an 8-6 loss following a 65 yard interception return by Mark Sentalla to tie the score, 6-6. A Donald Graham aerial to Jay Wainwright set the Bulldogs in front, 8-6.

Defensive standouts in the game were Don Spiers, Jay Wainwright, and Randy Ladner.

In the Gulfview homecoming earlier, the Bulldogs beat Charles B. Murphy 32-6, Sentalla and Kevin James scoring twice and also adding two conversions each.

USM Alumni events listed

The Alumni Association at the University of Southern Mississippi is inviting all USM alumni to "Come to USM, Oct. 27-28" for Homecoming '78.

A schedule of events has been announced by alumni director Powell G. Ogletree which includes a golf and tennis tournament, business meetings, a pre-game barbecue, class reunions and a homecoming dance following the football game.

Returning alumni are urged to stop by the Alumni House on the USM campus for a detailed Homecoming schedule.

The main attraction for Homecoming '78 will be the 1:30 p.m. clash between the Seminoles of Florida State University and the Golden Eagles of USM.

The Bay St. Louis Junior High football team defeated the St. Stanislaus squad Tuesday by a score of 40-0.

Donald Carver scored three touchdowns in the game, and R. David Gillum took six points across the goal line for the Tigers.

STOPPED - Virgil Swanier, No. 10 for Pass Christian, is taken down by East Central's Rommie Saviks No. 73, with No. 62, Buddy Cumbest and No. 61, Sam Shields, moving in to assist. No. 50 for the Pirates, Jonathan Cole, moves in to block. (Photo special to the Sea Coast Echo)

Rocks, Pirates prepare for physical confrontation

By RICH ADAMS

The Pass Christian Pirates and St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chows, contenders for second place in the Pascagoula River Conference, meet Friday night at the Pirate Stadium in what both coaches believe will be a very exciting, physical game.

Both the Pirates and the Rocks boast a 5-2 overall record, and follow two games behind d'Iberville for the first place spot.

"We're going into the game with the idea to win. We respect the St. Stanislaus team, but we feel we can win if we play well," said Pirate head coach Bob Lumpkin.

Stanislaus hasn't won a game against the Pirates across the Bay Bridge in the nine-year reign of Rock head coach Billy Poole, but Poole hopes to break that streak Friday.

"It's really hard to tell in a game like this. Pass has an explosive, good offense," said Poole.

The Pirate defense hasn't gelled completely yet, but they always have a good team, and this year is no exception," he added.

Both teams are rebounding from wins, the Rocks beating inter-city rivals Bay High and the Pirates coming from a win over the East Central Hornets.

Each team plans to give the game the best shot they have, and expects a very physical game.

Game time in Pass Christian is 7:30 p.m. Friday night.

SCRAMBLE-Pirate quarterback, Pat Barnes, No. 10, scrambles for yardage while being pursued by East Central's Dwight Wells, No. 91. The Pirates defeated the East Central squad 22-6. (Photo Special to the Sea Coast Echo)

HNC meets Notre Dame in 'fill the stadium night'

By RICH ADAMS

Hancock North Central head coach Irvin Favre is labeling Friday's game against Notre Dame "fill the stadium" night in hopes of getting enough Hawk fans to the game to fill every seat in the House as they watch their HNC eleven attempt to win their ninth game of the season and 20th consecutive regular season game.

"It's fill the stands night. We've got a new seating capacity at the stadium this year, and have yet to fill the stadium to capacity," said Coach Favre.

"I'm asking all HNC fans to come out and see if we can fill up the stands. I want a sellout crowd Friday night," he added.

"According to Favre, the 4-4 record of the Rebels promises a good, exciting game.

"They are a good, big football team. They have four wins, all of them shutouts," Favre said.

"They are a good defensive ballclub. They concentrate on trying to put the other team in the hole, hoping the other team makes the mistakes," he explained.

The Hawks, still undefeated this year, return to Hancock County from Pine, La., last week registering a 40-0 shutout over the state line.

Coach Favre urges all Hawk fans to come out for the game Friday at 7:30 p.m. to fill up the stadium and cheer the HNC squad onto their 20th win in a row.

Squirrel season opens

Come Saturday, October 28, more squirrel hunters will be in the woods, as the season opens in Hancock County and other Zone III counties of mostly east-central and southeast Mississippi.

The areas in the zone which will be open include the following counties: Leake, Neshoba, Kemper, Lauderdale, Newton, Scott, Rankin, Clarke, Jasper, Smith, Simpson, Jefferson Davis, Covington, Jones, Wayne, Marion, Lamar, Forrest, Perry, Greene, George, Stone, Pearl River, Jackson, Harrison, and Hancock.

With the opening of the season in Zone III, all of the state will be open for squirrel hunting, the state's most popular gunning sport. This fall nearly 170,000 hunters in all three zones will be after the eight per day squirrel limit and 16 in possession.

According to a recent survey by state biologists, over 3.3 million squirrels are taken each year. Hunters average spending nine days afield and taking home 2.2 animals each day that they hunt.

Game and Fish Commission biologists are reminding hunters that hickory nuts are a top squirrel food item. They are cut in early fall while the nuts are green and stored for winter food. Acorns and magnolia seeds are also squirrel favorites, especially in south Mississippi where there are a few hickories.

Bay High resting for clash with St. John

By RICH ADAMS

Following a close 21-24 loss to St. Stanislaus last Friday, the Bay High Tigers are resting with an open date this Friday preparing for a bout with the St. John Eagles Saturday, November 4.

"Our boys played real well last week against St. Stanislaus. I'm real proud of them, they made a good effort. We could have won the game," head coach Billy Rhodes said.

Right now we're taking a few days off, sort of relaxing and watching films. By Friday we will be back in a normal routine," Rhodes said Tuesday.

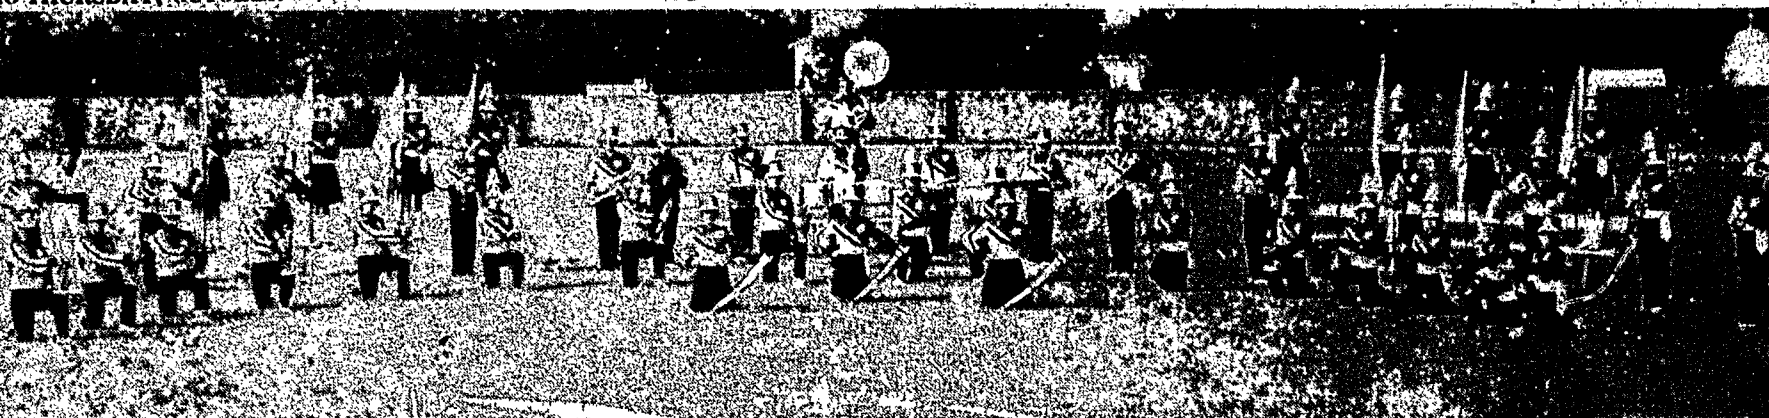

The Tigers will meet St. John in Miller Stadium in Gulfport Saturday night at 7:30 p.m.

The Bay High squad now holds a 1-7 record, and has two games remaining in the regular season, one with the Eagles of St. John and another against St. Martin.

CHEERLEADERS-Bay Catholic cheerleaders perform a drill used to support the Crusaders to victory. Scientists join forces to study king mackerel

Three agencies have joined forces to determine the impact of net fishing on king mackerel populations. Poor catches by recreational fishermen in the Eastern Gulf over the last several seasons have caused anglers to question whether net fishing could be a factor.

The Gulf of Mexico and the South Atlantic Fishery Management Councils have joined the Florida Department of Natural Resources in funding the study. A contractor will observe netting operations off Fort Pierce this winter to determine if king mackerel are killed and lost in the operation. Some fishermen claim that quantities of the fish fall out of the nets and are not recovered by the net fishermen.

King mackerel overwinter off the lower Florida coast from Fort Pierce through the Keys. In the spring they move as the waters warm both up the Atlantic Coasts and westward toward Texas, Louisiana and Mexico where they apparently spawn.

The past several seasons waters in the northern Gulf have remained colder for a longer period, and the usual "runs" have not occurred. Some fishing, scientists believe the fish have altered their movement to seek warmer water, further offshore. One king mackerel tagged off Fort Pierce was recently recovered in Mexico.

The Gulf of Mexico and the South Atlantic Fishery Management Councils are two of the eight such regional groups charged with developing management plans for fisheries within the newly established 200 mile limit. The two Councils are developing a joint plan for migratory coastal pelagic fishes which includes the king and Spanish mackerel.

FALL NATURE CRUISE

Although direct water contact sports are ruled out because of cool air and cold water, the opportunity to use your boat in the Fall is expanded by the number of things to do and the probability of less water traffic.

Many of the Fall activities favored by Mercury outboards' outdoor recreation staff involve the changing world of nature as birds, animals and trees prepare for winter. They suggest that a Fall boat outing is an ideal way to observe and learn more about nature.

Children, especially, enjoy exploring by boat, and a Fall nature cruise can be a unique adventure. A few books, a picnic lunch and some binoculars are all that's needed to make a successful nature cruise.

Local bookstores will have regional editions of bird, animal and plant identification guides.

Try to have several pairs of binoculars so that all members of the family can observe the same things together.

Youngsters also enjoy collecting and pressing colorful leaves, which make an ideal exhibit for classroom discussion.

There are many different ways to enjoy boating during the Fall.

Halloween will soon be here! Make it safe for the children to trick or treat by taking a few simple precautions.

Buy or make Halloween costumes of materials that are highly visible in the dark and that are flame retardant. They should be short enough so children won't trip on them.

Masks or other disguises should not restrict vision nor breathing. A natural mask of cosmetics or charcoal applied directly to the skin is usually safest.

Small children out trick-or-treating should be accompanied by an adult and carry a flashlight when doing so.

Treats collected by the children should be carefully inspected by an adult. The Halloween goodies they collect should be eaten in moderation.

Let your children trick or treat in their own neighborhood, and remind them not to visit houses where the lights are not on.

We want the children to have fun, and we need to do everything we can to make sure they are safe.

If you make frequent long distance calls to family and friends within Mississippi, South Central Bell's Tel-A-Thrift plan could save you money.

With Tel-A-Thrift, residence customers can make up to 60 minutes per month of One-Plus dialed long distance calls, within Mississippi, for only $8. And additional 6-minute periods are only 80¢ each.

You can use your time for a few "long" calls each month or as many as 60 one-minute calls. There's a one-minute minimum for each call.

Tel-A-Thrift applies to calls you dial One-Plus any night between 11 p.m. and 8 a.m., all day on Saturdays, and until 5 p.m. on Sundays. It's ideal for calling 30 or more miles away, the farther away you call, the more you save. In fact, Tel-A-Thrift can help you save as much as one-half the already low night and weekend rates.

On long distance calls within Mississippi, Tel-A-Thrift can offer you real savings every month on an hour's worth of "keeping you in touch." There is a $5 charge for establishing the service for your residence phone. Call your local business office and ask about Tel-A-Thrift.

INTENT TO ISSUE BONDS - $100,000 FAIRGROUNDS AND REFUNDING BONDS

The Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, took up for consideration the matter of constructing and equipping facilities for livestock and horse shows, fairgrounds, display and exhibition buildings, and related facilities and activities within the provisions of Senate Bill No. 2562 of the regular 1974 Session of the Mississippi Legislature, as amended by House Bill No. 725 (Chapter 890), Laws of Mississippi of 1978; and the matter of issuing Hancock County Fairgrounds Refunding Bonds for the purpose of redeeming or exchanging therefor, bonds of this issue for outstanding Hancock County Fairgrounds Bonds dated October 1, 1974, and after a discussion of the subject by the Board of Supervisors, Supervisor Perniciaro moved the adoption of the following Resolution:

A RESOLUTION OF THE HANCOCK COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS DECLARING THE INTENTION OF HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI, TO ISSUE BONDS OF SAID COUNTY IN AN AMOUNT NOT EXCEEDING $100,000, UNDER THE PROVISIONS OF SENATE BILL NO. 2562 OF THE REGULAR 1974 SESSION OF THE MISSISSIPPI LEGISLATURE AS AMENDED BY HOUSE BILL NO. 725 (CHAPTER 890), LAWS OF 1978.

WHEREAS, the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, has now found and determined that it is in the public interest to provide additional funds for constructing and equipping facilities in Hancock County for such purposes; and

WHEREAS, the Board of Supervisors finds that if such outstanding bonds are refunded and their maturities extended and additional bonds issued for the purpose hereinabove stated, that the availability of such tax will be adequate and sufficient to pay the principal and interest upon the bonds proposed to be issued by this Resolution; and

WHEREAS, the Board of Supervisors is authorized by Section 11-151 of the General Laws of 1974, Mississippi Code of 1972, to refund outstanding bonds of the County or to provide for the exchange of outstanding bonds of the County for bonds authorized and issued pursuant to Senate Bill No. 2562, Laws of 1974, as amended by House Bill No. 725 (Chapter 890), Laws of 1978; and

WHEREAS, the Board of Supervisors finds and determines that it would be in the public interest to issue bonds of said County in the amount of $100,000 for the purposes hereinabove stated; and

WHEREAS, the assessed valuation of the taxable property within the said Hancock County, appearing on the assessment rolls as established by the last completed assessment and taxation preceding the time of this Resolution is as follows:

Book Review By Hart Shorn Bay St. Louis

WILDLIFE FEDERATION'S HOLIDAY ALBUM

With Thanksgiving drawing near, millions of Americans will soon be stalking supermarkets in search of the perfect turkey. They will find their turkeys in plastic bags and some of the trimmings in cans. It wasn't always that way, of course.

For the first Thanksgiving, in 1621, four pilgrims were sent "fowling" for wild birds. In one day of hunting they bagged enough to feed the Plymouth Colony for a week.

Then, after three days of feasting with the colonists to celebrate their harvest, a band of Indians under Chief Massasoit, "went out and killed five deer, which they brought to the plantation and bestowed upon our governor, and upon the captain and others."

The story of that first Thanksgiving, ordered by Governor William Bradford so that the settlers could "rejoice together after we had gathered the fruit of our labors," is told in a new book, Wildlife's Holiday Album, a 160-page anthology published by the National Wildlife Federation.

The details of the celebration are recounted in a letter written by one of the Mayflower pilgrims, Edward Winslow, to a friend back in England on December 11, 1621.

Winslow, later to become governor of the colony himself, told how the pilgrims had harvested 20 acres of "Indian corn," plus six acres of barley and peas, before Bradford declared the holiday, then added:

"Our bay is full of lobsters all the summer and affordeth variety of other fish. All the spring-time the earth sendeth forth naturally very good sallet (salad) herbs. Here are grapes, white and red, and strawberries, gooseberries, plums of three sorts..."

That first Thanksgiving later evolved by Presidential proclamation into a nationally celebrated holiday. It is one of many commemorated in Wildlife's Holiday Album.

The book's four sections - Spring, Summer, Autumn, and Winter - tell in stories, paintings, photographs, poems, and recipes how man and wildlife enjoy the changing seasons.

They explain the mysteries of wildlife migration and hibernation and depict in color photographs many species of wildlife in their seasonal activities: fireflies lighting up a summer night; a newborn flamingo cautiously greeting spring; migrating Canada geese winging over the Adirondacks in autumn; a snowy owl poised atop a snowdrift, waiting to attack an unwary bird or mouse.

Artists included in the holiday anthology include Thomas Hart Benton, N.C. Wyeth, Grandma Moses, and the famed lithographers Currier and Ives.

Authors include Mark Twain, Rachel Carson, Robert Frost and J.R.R. Tolkien, who wrote letters from "Father Christmas" for his children.

There is also an essay by the nation's 31st President on "Why Presidents Fish."

Wrote Herbert Hoover: "It's one of the few opportunities given a President for the refreshment of his soul and the clarification of his thoughts by solitude."

Seasonal and holiday "how-to" articles are another feature of the book - how to make butterfly kites for March winds, how to decorate Christmas trees with edible ornaments for birds, how to make apple cider. Which apples make the best cider? Experts prefer a combination - Rome Beauties for sweetness, McIntoshes for aroma, and Winesaps for tang.

Wildlife's Holiday Album is available for $9.95 per copy, plus 85 cents in handling charges, from the National Wildlife Federation, 1412 16th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036. After January 1, 1979, the price will increase to $11.95.

YES WE CAN

...help you beat the high cost of building a new home.

For over three decades, Jim Walter has been building and financing homes that families of all walks of life can afford. NOTHING HAS CHANGED! If you own property, we can still custom build a home for you for far less than "average" prices being reported in newspapers, on television and radio. YES WE CAN! Let us show you!

We'll also show you that, by doing some or all of your own inside finishing work, you can save more. Here's how: Jim Walter will custom build your new home to almost any stage... from the "shell" up to 80% complete. We'll finish the outside in every detail. On the inside, you tell us where to stop... then take over and finish the rest. Do as much as you like... but the more inside work you do for yourself the more money you'll save.

Jim Walter offers INSTANT mortgage financing to qualified property owners... and you'll know exactly what your monthly mortgage payment will be before construction begins. YES WE CAN! Even though new home prices continue to spiral upward, Jim Walter can help you beat the high cost of building. Let us show you how today!

Average U.S. Home May Soon Cost $78,000

The average price of a typical American home could reach the almost incredible level of $78,000 within five years. This startling information was released in early March 1977 in a report by the Joint Center for Urban Studies of Harvard University and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The price of housing in the past few years has jumped twice as fast as family incomes. Contributing to this rapid rise in the price have been inflation, government regulations, and periodic shortages of mortgage money - all of which has caused a sharp decline in housing starts since 1972.

Homes built on your property to any stage of completion from the shell to 90% finished.

Southern Baptists plan state meeting in Jackson

The nearly 2,000 Southern Baptist churches in Mississippi are selecting messengers to represent them at the Mississippi Baptist Convention set for Nov. 13-15 in Jackson.

This annual business and inspiration meeting of the churches is designed to establish a budget, hear reports of agencies and elect representatives officers and members of various boards. The convention begins Nov. 13 at Jackson's Daniel Memorial Baptist Church and continues the next two days at First Baptist Church in Jackson.

Messengers will vote on a $10 million Cooperative Program budget for 1979.

Approximately one-third of this money, given voluntarily by participating churches, is sent out of state for missions and educational causes in Southern Baptist work in the nation and around the world. The rest helps support Mississippi Baptist Convention boards and agencies including four Baptist colleges.

Featured speakers for the convention include Jimmy Allen, president of the Southern Baptist Convention, and pastor of First Baptist Church, San Antonio, Tex.

Robert Hamblin, pastor of Harrisburg Baptist Church in Tupelo will give the presidential address. This is Hamblin's second term as president of the Mississippi Baptist Convention. And the annual sermon will be delivered by Joe McKeever, pastor of First Baptist Church of Columbus.

A number of other Mississippians will have a part on the three day program. They include George Thornton, a Kosciusko lawyer; Bill Baker, pastor of First Baptist Church, Clinton; James Travis, director of pastoral services for the University of Mississippi Medical Center; and Paul Vandercook, director of language ministries for Baptists along the Gulf coast.

ATTENDS INSTITUTE ON AGING - It's back to school this week for those who work with Mississippi's elderly citizens. Reviewing educational materials of the Fall Institute on Aging in progress at Mississippi State University are Eve McDonald, left, of Hancock County and Leighton LeBoeuf, instructor, Chattanooga, Tenn. The workshop, sponsored by the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service is designed to help volunteers, professionals and paraprofessionals who work with senior citizens to become more competent. Superintendent Terrell Randolph reports the Hancock County School District is now offering a comprehensive program of language, speech, and hearing services for those children needing assistance.

Written permission is required before any assessment of the child's language, speech, and hearing can be made. Permission forms for these services have been sent home with each child in grades one through eight in all the county schools.

Students in grades nine through twelve will have permission form sent home upon teacher or parent referral only, Randolph added.

"Any questions concerning evaluation of your child should be directed to the principal of the respective school," the superintendent said.

Earlier survival skills lost on modern youth

To me a most disturbing phenomenon of the times in which we live is the fact that the young people of today are fast losing the practical knowledge and the survival skills of their forefathers. In the old days people were independent. Today they are becoming more and more dependent.

A person could read every book, every pamphlet, every sheet of instructions ever published on how to use a typewriter or on how to play a piano but without practice on the typewriter or on the piano, he could never become proficient in the use of either one.

Though not so obvious, this same principle of "practice makes perfect" is true in the learning of other skills. A man cannot be a successful farmer or stockman without training and experience in these ways of making a living, though he might study a dozen books on these subjects, and the same is true of other lines of endeavor.

Recently a man told me of an interesting experience with his 12 year old son. He told the boy that if he would grow a vegetable garden that he, the father, would buy all the vegetables he could raise on the family garden plot and pay him the price. At the stores at the time they were ready to be harvested.

The boy became enthusiastic over the project. Under the direction of his father, he prepared the ground for planting, he planted the seed, fertilized and cultivated it.

When ready to harvest the boy would call the grocery store for prices on the vegetables he had ready. His father paid him as agreed. The boy netted $77 above all cost. The boy, now much interested, is farming the garden on his own initiative. The father spent no more money than he would have spent anyway, the family had better food because it was fresh and vitamin loaded, the boy had $77 in cash and with a feeling of accomplishment he had never before experienced.

In my opinion, this actual experience is worth more to this young fellow than would be a whole university course in theoretical economics. Knowledge without experience to make it useful is worth very little.

In the old days most boys grew up on farms. They learned from actual experience working with their parents how to plan for the future, and how to work to execute these plans. They learned how to make a living even under adverse conditions.

In the spring working with their parents they prepared the ground for the year's crops. They planted them and cultivated them to produce supplies for themselves and for their livestock for the coming year.

They learned also, how to preserve and store crops until needed. They had to do this work if they had the essentials of life. There were no grocery or feed stores to go to back in those days.

Not many youngsters went to college when I grew up but they got useful training at home that made them self sufficient all their lives. Our parents not only raised their essential foods themselves but they also had their vegetable gardens, fruit orchards, milk and butter from their own cows.

Young people were well trained at home to fully take care of themselves. People 75 years ago were independent - they depended on no one but themselves.

In the economy under which we live today, instead of working and learning a way to make a living and instead of planning as in the old days, most people go to the grocery store for what they eat.

Young folks are not getting the training and experiences to make them self-sufficient as did their parents.

As a result, people are fast losing the knowledge and the skills of our forebears that enabled them to live comfortably under most any conditions. We have to a big extent lost the character and the discipline that marked people 60 to 75 years ago.

If there had been strikes, work stoppages or shut downs in 1900 or 1910 who would have cared? People back then took care of themselves, depending on no one but themselves, but now we are dependent on others for almost everything - for our very lives in case of shut downs or strikes by the big unions. Nationwide strikes with which we are so often threatened with would have millions on starvation in a very few weeks time.

In the old days boys and girls were kept busy - too busy to become problems or delinquents - but now with but little to do in the usual homes and with but few, if any responsibilities, crime among youngsters has greatly increased.

Crime seems to have increased at about the same rate as idleness among youngsters has increased. There is a simple solution to the rising crime rate among youngsters and that is: keep 'em busy.

The big difference in today and 50 years ago is that we have too much untested theory and too little training and practice. Graduates of great universities who learn theories but do not prove them through practice abound in Washington.

These gentlemen talk knowledge and with an air of authority of economic conditions, but often, if not always, when their theories are put to the test, they fail rather than succeed at great expense to the people of this country.

The men who founded this country were practical men, not untied theorists, and the great men down through the years, Jefferson, Jackson, Lincoln, Cleveland and others - have been practical men. These sound thinking men would not have even thought of and surely would never have considered many of the "dreamed up", untied, impractical programs passed by the congress as a result of the prodding of highly educated theorists who think they know everything but have been proven time after time to know little if anything that is practical and workable.

The Peace Corps and the foreign aid giveaway are among numerous examples of huge amounts of money thrown away and of actual harm done instead of good. Unsound government programs have tended to make people more and more dependent on the government and less dependent on themselves.

Small business seminar set for Jeff Davis campus

A two-session workshop on practical tax matters of concern to small business owners is scheduled in Gulfport, Nov. 13 and 14.

Participants will meet from 6:30 to 10 p.m. at the Mississippi Gulf Coast Junior College, Jefferson Davis Campus, Room D-110.

The class is sponsored by the Mississippi Research and Development Center, the U.S. Small Business Administration, and General Business Services.

"The workshop is designed to help participants acquire an increased awareness of tax matters in order to work more carefully and effectively with the business and tax counselor," according to George McFarland of the R & D Center. McFarland is an instructor in the workshop.

The workshop, said McFarland, will alert the small business person to ways of saving tax dollars and will focus primarily on federal taxes. It is designed principally for sole proprietors, partnerships, and small corporations.

"The burden of paper work and the need to be tax wise in business is constantly growing," McFarland noted.

GEORGE MCFARLAND

"Doing the job right is a requirement, not an option. And to do it right often requires a team effort between the business person and the business counselor."

Enrollment in the workshop is limited to the first 40 registrants. The fee of $15 includes instruction and workshop materials.

Among topics to be discussed are "Frequently Missed Deductions," "Year-End Tax Strategies," "Should You Lease or Purchase Equipment?" and "Are You Wasting Your Money?"

Those interested in registering for the workshop should contact Marie Dean of the R&D Center's Gulf Coast Office, 864-3302.
